Congratulations to Theatre Passe Muraille as it celebrates 50 years of groundbreaking theatre!

This year, as we mark Canada 150, Canadians across the country are taking part in events and activities that showcase our heritage and our cultural diversity. Arts and culture—including theatre—have a lasting power to enrich our lives and bring us together.

For half a century, Theatre Passe Muraille, Canada’s oldest not-for-profit theatre, has been developing and supporting its inclusive vision of theatre. Its diverse lineup, collaborative practices and unique voices have engaged audiences of all backgrounds.

As Minister of Canadian Heritage, I would like to thank the organizers and volunteers who have made this milestone celebration possible, and, of course, the Theatre Passe Muraille for 50 years of success in the performing arts.
